

SPOT OBJECT MOTION DETECTION ALGORITHM

P. M. Gugutkov¹, H. D. Lukarski²

¹*Technical University Sofia, Faculty of Electro Technique and Technologies*

²*Space Research Institute, Bulgarian Academy of Sciences*

Moving objects in image sequences can be detected by analyzing the pixel-level difference between successive frames. This paper describes a method for motion detection that is strong in small size (spot) objects. It is based on combining an image processing with a motion detection algorithm. The method is realized on an embedded DSP, which gives the opportunity for excellent flexibility in adaptation of the system to different environments.